

Changing Colors Or Adding New Thread

To add a new thread or color, first weave the end of the old thread back through three to four previous rows by passing the needle vertically along a warp thread. Cut your old thread off where it comes out of the woven section. Next, thread your needle with a new thread. Just to the side where you wish to begin weaving again, pass the needle through three to four rows of weaving. Leave a 1/2 inch tail to be clipped off later. (Photos 108 and 109.)

When the weaving is completed, clip any remaining ends, remove the pins and try your necklace on! If the threads are packed correctly, the necklace should not change shape. (Photo 110)

108. Bury the tail of your yarn by passing the threaded needle along a warp thread into the woven part.

109. Begin a new thread by passing the needle along a warp and through 3 to 4 rows of a woven section. Be sure to continue the same over/under pattern of weaving.
