

up like a checkerboard. For the second method, turn every other slice around to alternate the stripes. Be sure to match the pieces on both ends of the loaf. As described above, the loaf can be reduced, rolled into a log, or pressed into any other size you might want. It can be a component of another more elaborate loaf. Experiment. All sorts of interesting things will happen as you alter the shape of the loaf.

45. Four necklaces and a pin by Nan Roche made from geometric canes. The face pin is made in a loaf form.